Hi Jennifer,

Here's the email exchange I mentioned. I just re-read it and see that my last email was incorrect. It doesn't say you knew about the need to re-allocated funds to the third draft. Rather, I suggested that Caitlin give you a heads up about the potential need for a mod.

Hi Susan,

The revised screening analysis for the Texas hornshell critical habitat is attached, including 1) clean verisions in Word and pdf, and 2) a redline showing the changes. Overall, costs decreased by about $10,000.

Please let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Best,

Jen

Hi Susan,

This won't be too bad, but some of the cost estimates will change. We use different unit administrative costs for consultations depending on whether they occur in occupied or unoccupied habitat, so we'll have to make a switch in those two units.

I'm out of the office this week, but I should be able to get you the revise memo next week, when I return.

Also, Caitlin, you should make Jennifer Neely aware that we'll be using the funding we had set aside to address public comments to make this change. So, if there are substantive public comments that require our help, we may need a mod to add funding to the task order.

Thanks,

Jen

Hi Jane and Jennifer-

We need a change to the economic screening memo for Texas hornshell. Up to this point, we have been calling units 1b (Delaware River subunit) and 2 (Pecos River unit) unoccupied because they do not contain reproducing populations of hornshell. We have decided to change that and just call them occupied because of the presence of individuals.

I don't think this changes your analysis, since for section 7 purposes we would have consulted because of the presence of the species and you analyzed them that way, but there are tables and text that need to be amended.

I hope this isn't too big of a change. I appreciate the help.

Susan
